Fired exec denies graft rap

Frap SAL not valid, defense lawyers claim

By Eusebio Reyes

A former Philippine National Bank (PNB) executive who was fired last year for alleged graft and corruption has filed a writ of habeas corpus with the Supreme Court to challenge his dismissal. The writ is a legal remedy that allows a person to be released from custody if the government cannot prove that the person is guilty of a crime.

GMA rating unchanged despite poll fraud raps

By Dean Z. Paredes

DESPITE allegations of electoral fraud and growing public pessimism about the economy, President Macapagal-Arroyo's ratings did not go down after the May 10 elections.

Pulse Asia said the President's approval rating stayed the same between February and June, as did her trust rating.

Pulse Asia's latest survey taken June 22-July 3 showed that Ms. Macapagal received approval and trust ratings of 55 and 53 percent, respectively.

It said the figures did not change much from those prior to the May 10 elections.

Ms. Arroyo's approval rating in February was 53 percent; her trust rating in April was 53 percent.

"Amid the growing pessimism among Filipinos as well as the allegations... of massive cheating [in the elections, the] President still succeeded in scoring majority approval and trust ratings that were not significantly different from the ratings recorded prior to the elections," Pulse Asia said.

The survey found that 59 percent, or six in 10 Filipinos, considered themselves to be worse off now, compared to 49 percent in the February survey.

Analysis, however, expects Ms. Macapagal's ratings to improve after she obtained overseas worker Angulo de la Cruz's release from his Iraqi captivity.

The survey had 1,300 adult respondents nationwide, and a margin of error of 3 percent.

Pulse Asia said 22 percent of Filipinos disapproved of Ms. Arroyo's performance, while another 22 percent were ambivalent.

Some 27 percent could not decide whether or not to trust the President; 20 percent distrusted her outright.

The President appeared to enjoy the highest approval rating among Visayans (65 to 70 percent), rural Mindanawans (66 percent), and farmers and fishermen (62 percent).

Conversely, those most critical of her performance were from Metro Manila (30 percent) and urban Mindanawans (38 percent), and private sector employees (29 percent).

Likewise, Ms. Macapagal posted a very high trust rating among Visayans (63 to 68 percent), rural Mindanawans (63 percent), farmers and fishers folk (62 percent), and those in the rural areas (60 percent).

Distrust of the President was highest in Metro Manila (32 percent), urban Mindanawans (38 percent), and among the upper class (43 percent).

While the President's ratings remained steady, those of other top government officials rose by 4 to 8 points between February and June.

Supreme Court Chief Justice Hilario Davide gained the highest gain, from 41 to 49 percent.

Former Vice President Dr. Francisco Guingona's performance rating went up from 41 to 46 percent; Senate President Franklin Drilon, 51 to 56 percent, and Speaker Jose de Venecia, 42 to 46 percent.

According to Pulse Asia, only 13 percent of Filipinos thought they were better off now, compared to 19 percent in February.

More Filipinos saw themselves as becoming worse off in the year ahead. The survey said 39 percent expected to be worse off in the year ahead, compared to 23 percent in February.

Pulse Asia said the pessimism cut across geographic lines, with the biggest proportion of dissatisfied in Mindanawans.

The survey also found that bringing down the high prices of basic commodities was the most urgent national concern of Filipinos.

Their health, meanwhile, was their most urgent personal concern.

Marijuana still top drug of choice for 180M users

By Nelson G. Flores

ABOUT three percent of the world's population, or some 185 million people, are drug users and the most widely abused drug is cannabis or marijuana.

According to the recently published World Drug Report by the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime (UNODC), cannabis is closely followed by amphetamine-type stimulants (ATS) like shabu (methamphetamine hydrochloride). But in terms of impact on health monitored by demand for treatment services, opiates remain the most serious problem drug in the world.

The report further said that "countless more people around the world are involved in the production and trafficking of illicit drugs, and still more are touched by the devastating social and economic costs of this trade. These people live in both developed and developing countries, are rich and poor, healthy and unhealthy, citizens and refugees."

In the Philippines, the most recent government figures released in 1999 showed that there were at least 1.8 million regular drug users and 1.6 million part-time users and the most abused drug was shabu followed by marijuana and Ecstasy, another ATS-based drug.

Marijuana was cultivated in only nine identified sites in 1973, but today the number of plantations has increased to 130 located in nine regions of the country.

In 2002, government efforts to stop marijuana cultivation resulted in the uprooting and burning of 5.11 million plants and seedlings, and in 2003 5.29 million plants and seedlings were uprooted and burned.

In the first quarter of this year, 1.5 million marijuana plants and seedlings were destroyed and 21.5 tons of leaves, six grams of seeds, 118 sticks, 5.97 grams of hashish and 23 grams of marijuana tea bags with a total estimated value of P265.86 million were confiscated.

As for shabu, in the first quarter of 2004, nine transnational and 164 local groups dealing in the drug were known to be operating in the country. Of the local groups, 16 have been neutralized.

According to Undersecretary and Dangerous Drugs Board Executive Director Jose Calida, shabu used to be smuggled into the Philippines in processed form. Since 1997, however, there has been a trend to manufacture the drug in the country.

The UNODC has launched a worldwide campaign emphasizing the importance and effectiveness of drug treatment - to drug dependents as well as to the general public.

Pagcor better under DOF, says bishop

By Marcelo S. Rivera

EXETER the Department of Finance than the Office of the President.

Placing the Philippine Amusement and Gaming Corp. (Pagcor), one of the biggest revenue-generating government-owned corporations, under the DoF would ensure more safeguards against the controversial policies and allocations that had been plaguing the agency, the Catholic Church's leading anti-gambling advocate said.

Pangasinan Archbishop Oscar Cruz also said DoF officials had the integrity, competence and time to oversee the operations of the agency overseeing legalized gambling.

"This is good because the Office of the President does not have enough time to oversee it. It is better in a way because the Office of the President is loaded with a lot of agenda," Cruz said.

Finance Secretary Jovito Antonio announced on Tuesday that Malacañang was drafting an executive order that would place Pagcor under the DoF by 2005 in order to make better use of its earnings.

CONGRESSIONAL MEDAL

The House of Representatives, through Speaker Juan de Venecia, recently awarded the Congressional Medal of Merit, given so far only to foreign heads of state, to two Filipino institutions and a nonresident Filipino. Fr. Pierre Wico, S.J., founder of the Erdo Foundation, was cited for the support Erdo has given since 1974 to children from the poorest families in school, preventing them from becoming dropout statistics. The Earthmovers Dreams Foundation, founded by Cecile Guidim Alarcon, Magway Award for Theater and now Presidential Assistant on Culture, was cited for its efforts in making physically disabled and marginalized youths into performing artists. The Philippine National Oil Company, represented here by PNOC President Thelmo Y. Comanan, was recognized for winning the prestigious Energy Globe Award for its Solar Home Systems Distribution Project, which tested 972 energy projects from 15 countries last November in Austria.

Tug-of-war for Ping seen

By TJ Burgonio

ADMINISTRATION whistlers are wooing Sen. Panfilo "Ping" Lacson into their ranks even as the opposition thinks about welcoming Lacson back into its fold.

Lakas Sen. Juan Flavio confirmed yesterday that the Senate majority has taken steps to take Lacson in from the cold.

Lacson, a member of the opposition Laban ng Demokratikong Pilipino, was rejected by the LDP as a presidential candidate in favor of actor Fernando Poe Jr. in the recent elections.

With Rep. Buzo Aquino, he set up a break-away LDP wing that became the vehicle for his candidacy.

"I'm sure there are efforts to convince him to join the majority... My guess is that Senate President Drilon is the one taking steps in that direction," said Flavio who retains his post as Senate President Pro Tempore.

Drilon has said that he would "discuss the matter" with the rest of the administration senators, possibly during a party caucus next week.

The Inquirer tried but failed to reach Lacson for comment.

Flavio said Lacson's defection would be a welcome development and a boost to the 14-man majority in the Senate.

"Politics is addition. What would be my reaction to his joining us? Positive," he said.

Opposition Sen. Aquilino Pimentel has said that while he has no doubts about where Lacson's loyalty lay, the opposition has to decide whether to re-admit him despite some reservations.

KASABAHAYANG MAGSASAKA NG PILIPINO

We, members of KAMPI, affirm our wholehearted support to the noble initiatives taken by President Gloria Macapagal Arroyo that led to the safe release of Angelo del Cima.

We share President Arroyo's commitment and resolve to protect a human life against all odds and against all forces that hold Arroyo's imprisonment as a mere collateral damage of war.

We believe that President Arroyo has since once demonstrated the kind of leadership that cherishes our deep moral values as Filipinos and nurtures the Filipino family as the foundation of our nation.

We are proud of what you have done, Mahatma President, and true people are now in extending to you our heartfelt congratulations and the assurances of our undivided support to your leadership.

The diagram illustrates a 2D hexagonal lattice structure. A central atom is labeled '1'. It is surrounded by six atoms in a hexagonal arrangement, labeled '2' through '7'. The distance between the central atom and its nearest neighbors is labeled 'a'. The distance between two adjacent atoms in the second shell is labeled 'b'. The lattice is shown in a perspective view, with a horizontal plane and a vertical axis.

NDF ready to free 2 Army soldiers

MANILA, May 12 (AP) — The National Democratic Front (NDF) has offered to release two Philippine Army soldiers held captive by its forces, a senior NDF official said Tuesday.

The NDF official, who spoke on condition of anonymity, said the group was ready to free the soldiers if the government agreed to release two NDF fighters held in custody.

The official said the soldiers were held in a remote area of Mindanao, but did not provide details of the location or the names of the soldiers.

The Philippine Army has been searching for the soldiers since they were reported missing in late 2009.

The NDF is a militant group that has been active in Mindanao for decades, fighting for an independent state for Muslims in the region.

The group has been accused of numerous human rights abuses, including the killing of civilians and the kidnapping of soldiers.

The Philippine government has been trying to negotiate with the NDF for years, but the talks have not resulted in a final agreement.

The release of the soldiers would be a significant development in the conflict, as it would show that the NDF is willing to negotiate and release captives.

However, the government would also need to agree to release the NDF fighters, which is a more difficult task.

The Philippine Army has been accused of human rights abuses in the past, and the release of the soldiers would be a test of the government's commitment to human rights.

The NDF has also been accused of human rights abuses, and the release of the soldiers would be a test of the group's commitment to human rights.

The conflict in Mindanao has been a long and difficult one, and the release of the soldiers would be a step towards a peaceful resolution.

GMA unveils tax plan to raise P80B, save P100B

Businessmen bankroll drive to fight graft

A group of businessmen, including the president of the Philippine Chamber of Commerce and Industry (PCCI), have unveiled a tax plan to raise P80 billion and save P100 billion. The plan, which is being pushed by the businessmen, is aimed at reducing the tax burden on businesses and increasing the efficiency of the tax system. The plan includes a number of measures, including the elimination of certain taxes, the reduction of others, and the introduction of new ones. The businessmen argue that the plan will help to stimulate economic growth and create jobs. They also claim that the plan will help to reduce the government's budget deficit.

No policy on players' stint outside PBA

By Sam Henson

PHILADELPHIA — The PBA has no policy on players' stints outside the league, a move that has led to a number of players leaving the league to play in other leagues or countries. The PBA has a long history of players leaving the league to play in other leagues or countries, and this is no exception. Maximum challenge DETERMINED of having his last ever published collection Manila's & Soliven's Businessworld Managing editor Martin Tort has decided to bring in Philippine Press Company that after failing to win a contract selling his colleagues on how to effectively organize Soliven's alleged brand of business journalism.

Tort had recommended that newspaper publishers of the PPC print the letter of President Adviser Roberto E. Duterte, after Soliven's newspaper disclosed Duterte's offer to even pay for space just so his letter to the editor could be printed.

According to the grapevine, with Businessworld and Malaya have so far signaled their willingness to print, Tort is set hand in, but subject to certain conditions, and Standard would do it but only if the business does the same.

The government-run Journal and the representative from the academic Liberal members of the La Salle have not moved in their move so far while the two other private sector representatives, former Justice Ramon Mabutas and Phoenix's Chito Salazar, voted in favor of printing.

Saying that the tally was one vote short, Tort decided to elevate the issue to the Philippine Press Institute the publishers association chaired by Amado Talar. Mabutas and then is empty handed in his resignation.

"Philippine journalism has failed you," Tort said in his July 20 letter to Businessworld copies of which were furnished PPC members who are mostly newspaper editors. "My apologies to you—I can only hope you can get satisfaction elsewhere."

Businessworld's letter hopes to answer at least 30 negative columns of Soliven and in his surrogate statements in the Soliven newspaper published in a span of 13 months.

According to the grapevine, Duterte had already called in the majority members of the Soliven newspaper but that the members in the end decided to stand by their vote.

Duterte apparently agreed the remedy of Soliven and his business partners to be reduced. Jose Mariano Talar, Businessworld's after the two suspended the Journal member of having recommended to President Marcos Jr. the appointment of over 8,000 men worth of Peraquian and 15 trade body members furnished by Businessworld from the Estrada government.

In addition to being a PPC consultant of the PP Publishers Association is also the Philippine representative of the Manila Magazine lobby firm of Washington D.C.

T. opposite Soliven and Businessworld CEO, Gervacio, was back the morning of White House dinner with President Bush, even though the Bush dinner was supposed to have been limited to Cabinet members and the accompanying official entourage.

Despite the accommodation, Soliven apparently was not satisfied and continued the attack against Duterte in his newspaper, where the letter was labeled as "Bureau To-day," "editorial," "editorial doesn't drink," "editorial," "editorial," and "editorial of Jewish lobby against other personal issues."

Parallel to the other complaint filed by the press council, Duterte also lodged a PSC complaint against Duterte in his newspaper, where the letter was labeled as "Bureau To-day," "editorial," "editorial doesn't drink," "editorial," "editorial," and "editorial of Jewish lobby against other personal issues."

Soliven had been accused of having publicly attacked and even groped at Duterte's wife in front of other customers in Gloria's last visit.

The victims, an HRM student then undergoing placement at the Manila restaurant, happened to be a niece of an HRM student.

La Campesina catches in Gallo win

GALLO has been a well-known wine brand in the United States that internationally registered its trademark in the Philippines, but that would not prevent a local cigarette manufacturer from manufacturing its own "Gallo" cigarettes, so filed the Supreme Court.

Saving La Campesina Fabrica de Tabaco had locally registered the Gallo brand with the Bureau of Internal Revenue as early as 1973. The Supreme Court last week also overruled the Court of Appeals and Manila Regional Trial Court rulings prohibiting the cigarette company PSC to issue damages for copyright infringement against the Calabarzon-based Arroyo and John Gallo winery.

Although Gallo winery has registered its trademark in the Philippines in 1974, the Gallo firms were company admitted that it started distributing the table wines in the Philippines only in 1974 and only initially within the then US military bases in the country.

Gallo winery started selling outside the Clark and Subic bays in 1974 and a more distributed by the Arroyo group.

Besides, the Supreme Court noted, the Gallo winery Philippine trademark was limited to wine, and not to other products like cigarettes.

The Supreme Court also said that the public would not confuse one Gallo for the other Gallo, since the former an export is sold in bottles in wine shops, while the latter package is a cheap brand of cigarettes and in cartons and packs and, more often, by the stick in cigarette shops.

"The many different features like color schemes, art works and other markings of such products drove in the industry by reason of the use of the word Gallo—a family surname for the Gallo Winery's owner and a Spanish word for rooster for La Campesina's cigarettes," said Justice Antonio Reyes.

Carson even noted the error of the Manila RTC and Court of Appeals when the two lower courts ruled La Campesina and its owner company Blagay Corp. as having violated the 1998 Trademark law. The SC said that the courts pointed out that the filing of the damage suit preceded the 1998 law by a good five years.

La Campesina one of the oldest cigarette companies in the country is owned by the Wang family.

In the future, however, predicting a company's success is more difficult than it is now. The stock market, for example, is more volatile than it was in the 1970s and 1980s, and the Internet has made it easier for investors to trade.

consequently, rather than being a good thing, the negative correlation between the two variables may be spurious. For example, the correlation between the two variables may be due to a third variable, such as the size of the firm, which may affect both variables. For example, larger firms may have more employees and may also have a higher turnover rate. Therefore, the correlation between the two variables may be spurious.
